

GV-NVR Series: Support Status and Upgrade Path

GeoVision will conclude all support and services for the GV-NVR series on December 31, 2025.

As a legacy product, GV-NVR (also known as the GV-MultiCam program, first released in 1999) has provided stable performance over the years. While it is no longer compatible with newer hardware due to its architecture, existing systems will continue to operate reliably on current setups, even without future updates or technical support.

For your future expansion or modernization, we recommend upgrading to GV-VMS V20, as ongoing development and enhancements will focus on this platform.

For assistance, please contact your authorized distributor or our support team.

Thank you for your continued trust.